

Strong upper elevation winds were transporting snow on the highest peaks in the northern Madison Range. These alpine zones would be the most likely to hold unstable snow. Photo GNFAC

No Region, 2016-02-28